EMU OIL

by Talyala Emu Farm

Penetrates, moisturises and nourishes the skin...NATURALLY

The Aboriginies have been using Emu Oil for hundreds of years for relief of joint pain, muscle aches, insect bites, sunburn, windburn and dry skin.

Emu Oil has anti-inflammatory properties and is known for it's penetrating ability. The ability to penetrate the skin is brought about by the high levels of oleic acid. Vitamin E occurs naturally in Emu Oil.

Many massage therapists and chiropractors use emu oil because it gets into the muscles and relaxes them before treatment, which in turn makes the results of the treatment last longer. There is much anecdotal material on the anti-inflammatory abilities of emu oil. It has been shown to reduce pain, swelling and stiffness in joints, to reduce recent bruising and muscle pain and ease sports related muscle strains.

ABOUT THE EMU

READ SOME OF THE TESTIMONIALS WE HAVE RECEIVED FROM OUR CUSTOMERS

Apart from being used in the pure form, Emu Oil is also used in the cosmetic and medical fields. Emu Oil is a good emulsifier - it has the ability to blend oil and water together and produce a cream that does not feel oily on the skin.

Another property of emu oil is that it is bacteriostatic. Tests show that in its pure state, emu oil grows no bacterial organisms. For this reason pure non-contaminated emu oil has a long shelf life.

Emu Oil has a low potential for irritation of the skin, it is shown to have almost no side effects and at full strength emu oil has irritation levels so low that they are the same as those found in putting water on the skin i.e. almost non-existent. Emu Oil does not clog the pores of your skin and leaves no greasy residue.

Much research is still being done on emu oil all over the world and much more information can be obtained from the internet.

How to use Emu Oil

Always use sparingly - one drop is enough to do an area the size of the back of your hand. Apply to affected area as required (generally 2-3 times per day).

Emu Oil Capsules

Emu Oil capsules contain the essential fatty acids that our bodies need and taken as a dietary supplement may assist in the relief of arthritic pain, may help reduce cholesterol levels and may also help most inflammatory conditions.

Many of our customers have found that once they take 'Talyala' emu oil capsules they do not need to rub the emu oil on the outside anywhere near as much. This is of great benefit for those who have hard to reach muscle aches and joint pain. Our capsules are 1000mg which means you have to take less capsules than you would of the 500mg or 750mg.

I, quite sceptically, decided to give emu oil a try. I rub it in to my knees, elbows and ankles each morning & night and have had immediate great results - virtually no pain at all, except for some very low level & quite bearable twinges, when I get very tired. I have recommended this product to a number of friends & relatives'

Sandra Allen, Adelaide SA

'I discovered Emu Oil three years ago and have found it to be very helpful with my arthritis and high cholesterol levels I also think it helps a little with weight loss. When I was in WA in January I saw your stall at Fremantle market and as I was out of emu oil I decided to try yours. I found it to be purer than the oil I was getting from Queensland so that is why I am ordering from you again, now that I am getting low. Thank you.'

Eileen Honey, Megan NSW

Thank you for my last delivery of Emu Oil Capsules. I would like to let you know that I have been taking your capsules since April of this year (2003) I started taking them because I was getting referred pain to my right knee and was unable to exercise for more than two or three nights per week because of the pain, since taking your Emu Oil Capsules I have enjoyed regular exercise (6 to 7 night per week) with little or no pain'

Neville King, West Pennant Hills, NSW

Just a little note to say thankyou. I can highly recommend the Pure Emu Oil capsules as they have helped me a lot. I had problems with my knee's but since I started taking the Emu Oil Capsules I feel great! I walk every day for 45 minutes, where before I had a lot of trouble walking because my knee's hurt that much. Thank you'

E.Baak, Blacktown NSW

'.....you can tell every one to buy it for sand flies and mossie itches, marvellous stuff, every time the rotten things got at me, I'd just rub a little oil on the spot, and no more problems.'

Jean Morton, Willunga SA

'.....your salesman saw my wife's hands and said the oil would help, so we decided to give it a try. In two weeks from using the oil, the dry skin had gone, and the split skin had healed. Up until now the Eczema has not returned, thank you very much indeed'

D. Cunningham, Telford UK

I have a friend who has had psoriasis for many years and has used the emu oil and found it to be beneficial more so than anything else they have tried over the years and is grateful for such a product. I personally have found it great for relieving burns and excellent on dogs with skin problems'

John White, Staffordshire UK

'For some 18 months I have suffered with a torn tendon in the shoulder. Treatment by doctor with anti-inflammatory tablets drug which caused more problems than solving the original complaint. Emu oil tablets have fixed my shoulder. I thank you. For the first time in ages I can throw a ball, sleep in peace, again thank you.'

Tony Stephens, Hamilton Island QLD

'I am writing to yourselves to say thank you for producing Emu Oil. My husband had a tumor removed from his thigh in May of 2001. Due to the size of the tumor 80% of his thigh muscle was removed leaving him ---- and in considerable pain. We saw Emu oil advertised at the Fremantle market and decided to give it a try as at February this year the pain was still uncontrollable. Within 2 weeks Kevin had decided that there was definitely a reduction in the pain and now 2 months later with daily use and exercise the pain is definitely manageable. I hope that other people who have problems with pain management have the opportunity to try this product and I hope they have success as we have'

Heather Swanke, Warnbro WA

' Just a short note to say since taking Emu Oil Capsules, I have benefited very well from them. The arthritis in my fingers has settled down, they no longer ache, also my cholesterol which was very high, has now gone down'.

R.B. Colebrook, Nowra NSW

History

The emu (dromaius nova hollandiae) is the second largest flightless bird in the world and belongs to the ratite group which also includes the ostrich, rhea, cassowary and kiwi.

The Emu is native to Australia. Emus are farmed in Australia and indeed throughout the world under strict licensing conditions for their oil, meat, leather, eggs and feathers. One emu will produce on average the following :

- * 10-15 kg of dark red meat (similar looking to steak)
- * 10 kg of fat (which renders down to approx. 7 litres of oil)
- * approx. 7 square feet of body leather

The meat is used by restaurants and is available through selected meat stores & supermarkets. Emu leather is used to make a range of items including wallets, purses, belts, leather jackets, handbags, shoes & boots etc.

The emu egg has seven different layers of colour through the eggshell ranging from the dark outside green through to white inside - this enables them to be carved. The emu eggs are also used for painting, egg artistry and as decorations.

Emu feathers are used for decoration and by the clothing industry. Emu oil has many uses, some of them are described in this brochure.
